Order to know if the General has received the petition
 and papers delivered to Major Nunn 7 or 8 months ago.
 knows the General has not received it for "he would not leave a man to starve 14 months," when that same man has given the very meat out of his & his wife and childrens mouths to feed the King's friends. As soon as they ask for it without pay, will he let me lay 14 months longer without a blanket except what I beg to cover me, because the love of my King has not let me sleep 4 nights in my own bed in 4 years, or because I have given all my bedding to loyalists and laid myself one year on a prison floor loaded with chains
 which I would rather bare forever than forswear my King, or is it because I have ruined my own constitution
 to save other men's lives for the service of my King

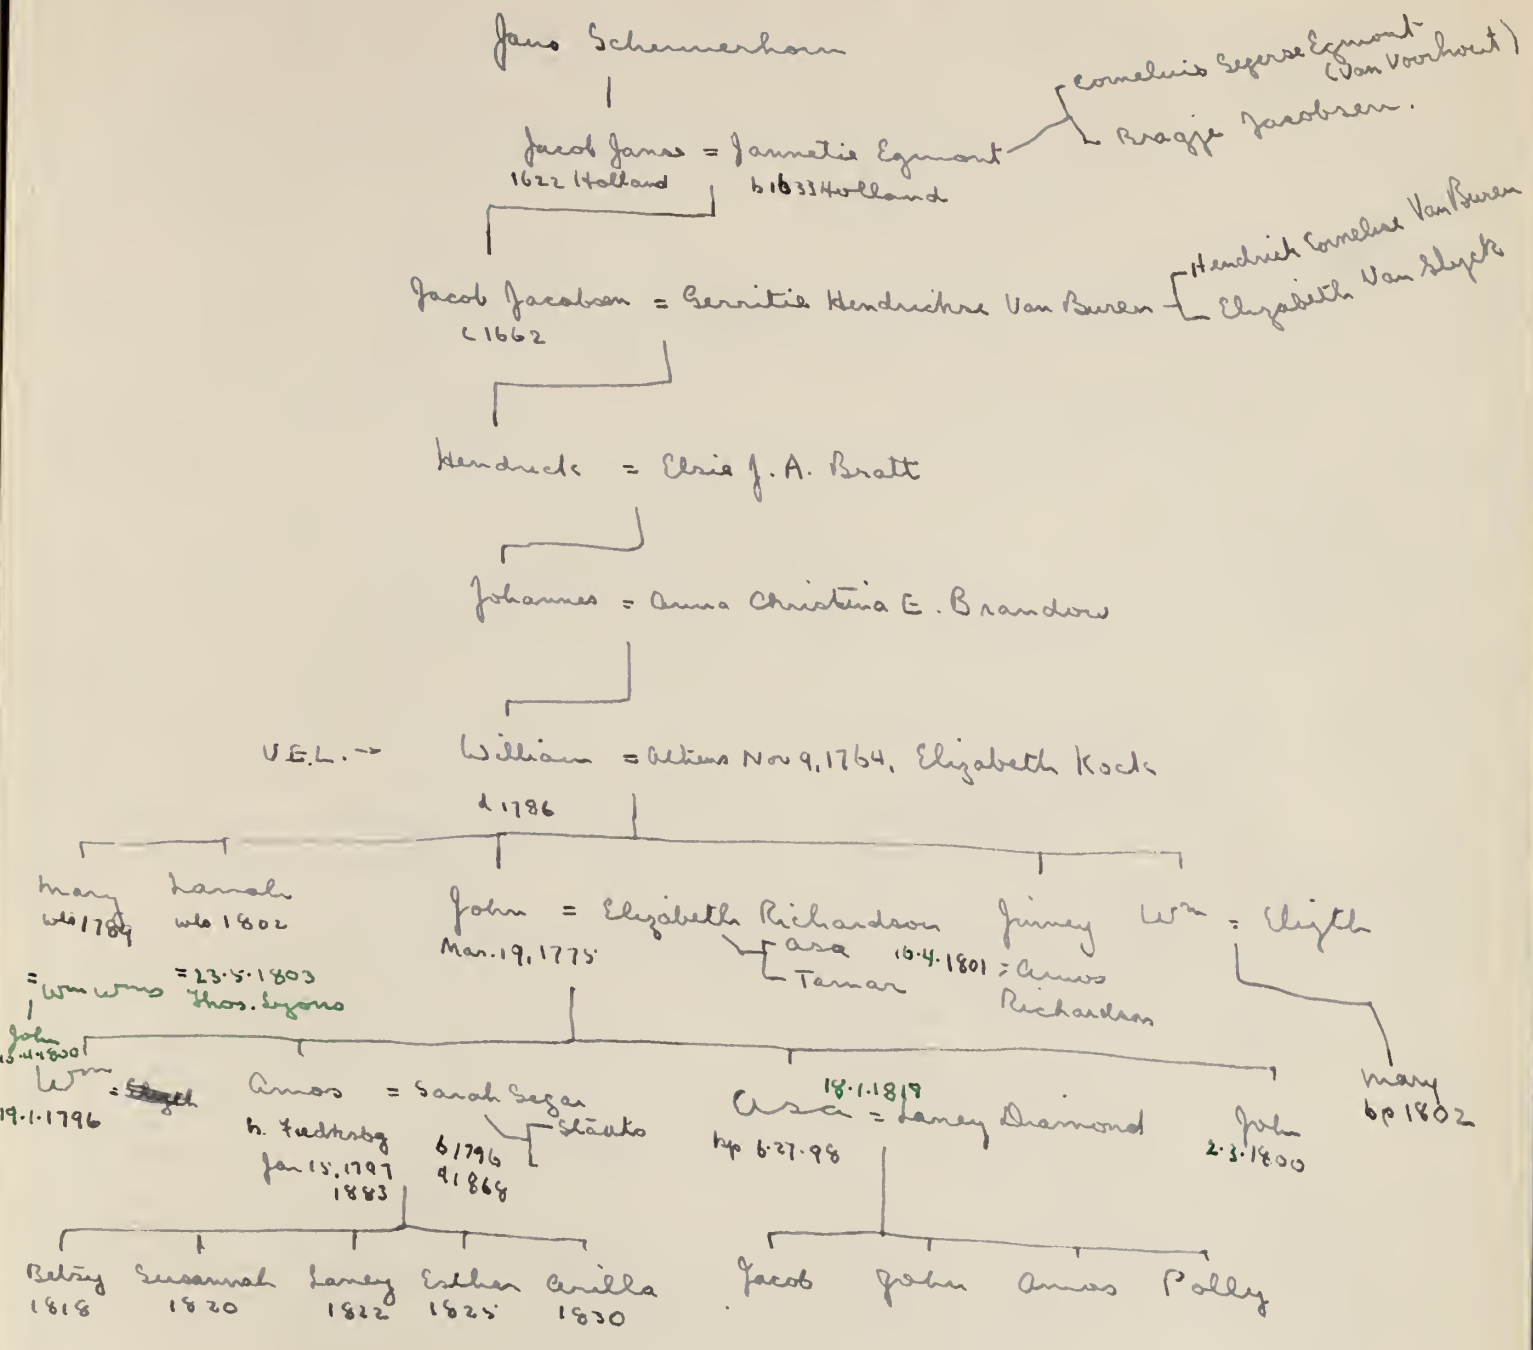

Scheuchorn ³

that I must now see others get commissions for upwards of 100 men that I have engaged & sent to Niagara & Canada, or is it because from the honor of of my soul I declared to Gen. Burgoyne that I could not engage my men to Col. Jerreys who promised me a captain's commission without first offering them to Sir J. Johnson who I thought had the best right to them as the gentlemen who gave me enlisting orders received his authority from him. Or is it because I did not stay to come to Canada with the Conventioners
to receive subsistence but resigned my life the day before to go express for Gen. Burgoyne. No, no, Sir, the General has not seen my papers or he would know
all this & more — &c

In 1643 he became 21 and is mentioned by his father as living at Amsterdam. In 1649 is mentioned as fur trader. He was arrested May 26, 1648 for selling firearms to the Indians. "Settlement of Upper Canada," by W. M. Canniff, M.D., F.R.S.C., published in Toronto, 1872. Captain Schermerhorn was among the first settlers upon the Bay of Quinte.

Respecting the nature of his services during the war we have no record, nor have learned in what regiment he served, but probably Johnson's. The writer has in his possession a portion of an epaulet which belonged to this officer.

He drew large quantities of land in the western part of the province as well as a lot in Fredericksburgh. He died in 1786 when on a visit to Montreal to procure his half pay. His widow and second son died soon after. His son John settled on lot 4, Con. 5, Fredericksburgh, 200 acres.

Children:

*Barent, baptized May 17, 1725, in Albany; married 1st. Alettala Konyn 2nd. Geortrud Vroeman.

Geertje, baptized April 2, 1727, in Albany (born in Manor of Livingston), married Nov. 4, 1748 in Rhinebeck, Gerrit Heermans.

Jacob, born _____; married Maghdalena (Maria) Schermerhorn.

Neeltsche, baptized Sept. 29, 1733, in Germantown.

Johannes, baptized Aug. 26, 1735, in Germantown.

Ryer, Jr., baptized June 5, 1737, in Albany.

Hendrick, baptized Jan. 23, 1739, in Linlithgo.

Jannetje, born in Rhinebeck, baptized Dec. 28, 1741, in Germantown, married Oct. 13, 1759, in Rhinebeck, Phillipus Heermans.

Katalyntje, baptized April 6, 1746, in Rhinebeck, married Dirk Schermerhorn, son of Johannes Schermerhorn and Engeltje Gardinier.

Jan, born Aug. 11, 1752, baptized in Rhinebeck, married Catharine Knickerbocker.

"Ryer Schermerhorn evidently lived in the Manor of Livingston soon after his marriage in 1724, as his child Geertje was born there. Ryer and his wife were admitted to the Linlithgo Reformed Church Oct. 15, 1732, and he was an Elder of this church Jan. 16, 1739. Probably in the neighborhood of 1741, he removed to Rhinebeck as he purchased property in Rhinebeck May 7, 1741, from Barent Van Benthuisen. By trade he was evidently a blacksmith, but he was a large property holder and slave owner as well. This is indicated in his will which is appended. An early real estate transaction in Rhinebeck is on record in which it is indicated that Ryer, Jr., purchased a lot in Rhinebeck and it is said the house erected on this property remained until a recent date, being known as "Sharp's Old Storehouse". Ryer Schermerhorn, Jr., conducted a merchantile business in Rhinebeck previous to and during the Revolution, but eventually failed, probably owing to the ravages of war. He went to Holland in 1758 where he remained. There is a story in the family that a letter received from this Ryer Schermerhorn, when in Holland, stated that the male line of the Schermerhorn family had become extinct and the family estate was then vested in the City of Alkmaar. The Burgomaster of this city offered to sell the estate to him, but he declined the offer because they asked more for it than the income of the estate would warrant to be a good investment. There is no present means of verifying this story, but at least a portion of it is inaccurate, as there have been many families of the name of Schermerhorn living in Holland up to the present day, the ancestry of whom could be easily traced in 1730".

It is often said that the success makes the dish. This may seem an exaggerated statement, but it is true that a good sauce adds flavour and appeal to the food with which it is served, and that a well-seasoned sauce seems a necessary complement to many foods. Cream sauce with its innumerable variations is undoubtedly the most generally used of all the sauces. A few practical, easily prepared variations of the sauce with their uses are suggested for the homemaker who is looking for new ways of serving simple dishes.

Toronto took a good-natured beating from roving bands of youths. Streets were flooded when fire hydrants were turned on, street-lights popped before the assaults of sling-shots and bean-shooters, and windows of homes were broken. One $1,000 fire was blamed on young men and 27 false alarms were turned in before midnight.

Little damage was reported at London, where All Hallows' Eve was celebrated at indoor parties. Extra motor patrols of city and Provincial Police reported they didn't have even to wave a disapproving finger.

Dear Dr. Furligh:-

I think I should have more of the tiny tablets, I call them my "emergency medicine" - You will know. I'm not "eating" them and I have some, but they do stop the severity of the cross-flairish and I have had to resort to them quite often.
I believe the others will help - and perhaps are already doing so. Thank you for calling this week - I had a bad night last night but a miserable forenoon today since about 9.³⁰
Just now Father is "greasing"
the dinner dishes - he's amazing.
He doesn't want me to help and apparently doesn't need me to do so. So, he's puddling away in the kitchen. Life piles up some queer situations indeed!

Thank you,

and I trust you'll send the tablets.

Trincerely

Edith Nightingale.
